

WOMAN'S INTERESTS

UNDERWEARDESIGNS

ATTRACTIVE GARMENTS NOW OFFERED AT MODERATE PRICES.

Combinations That Once Were the Privilege of the Rich Alone May Now Be Had by the Economical Buyer.

Combinations in underwear were once the privilege of the rich alone, but now such pretty things can be purchased in quite moderately priced grades that, especially in this "tubular" season, most of us are willing and anxious to avail ourselves of them.

The corset cover and drawers combination is by far the most popular. The drawers have deep yokes, to which are attached large circular flounces, thus providing enough skirt fluff and lace to admit of the omission of the short underskirt. Often the drawers are slashed at the sides and finished with narrow wash ribbon.

Corset covers of this sort are made rather full, gathered in at the waist line, or in the tight-fitting style favored by stout women. This combination is often made in allover English eyelet embroidery, which allows the corset cover to be made in one piece and the embroidery pattern to extend the entire length of the drawer flounce.

The corset cover and drawers combination is made also with a deep yoke and a flounce, the latter on the skirt this time. This model is popular with women of slight build. Under the same head comes the princess slip, which is by no means confined in use to the lingerie princess gown. On the other hand, its employment of darts and gores in the skirt makes it suitable for wear with any tight-fitting skirt.

For the princess slip the favorite materials are lawn, batiste and china silk. The waist and skirt are often elaborately trimmed with lace, embroidery and ribbon.

Three-piece models are infrequent, because of the tightness of the styles, but are sometimes adopted by slender women. Chemises are still in favor, especially in soft-finished materials, in a plainly embroidered French-cut model. Some, of course, are made elaborate by means of lace ending and insertion.

For all these combination garments soft, sheer goods are chiefly in favor this season.

Vegetables for Children.

The potato is easily digested. But it must be in good condition, and well boiled or baked, never fried. New or waxy potatoes are injurious for children.

Carrot is nutritive, but must be exceedingly well boiled, and only young carrots used.

Almost all green vegetables are excellent, lettuce, spinach and the like.

Leather Collar Sets.

Leather collar and cuff sets on tailor-made suits are of course not very new, but they are being revived in the sudden return of leather, and are seen frequently in black patent leather on tweed or covert suits of brown, blue and gray. Sometimes, too, they are in white; one such was worn with a white serge coat, cut in empire style and disclosing a very smart red-and-white striped waistcoat beneath.

LOOK NICE ABOUT THE HOME

Pinafores Can Be Worn if a Special Gown for Housework Is Not Feasible.

There are ever so many charming designs in pinafores, such as is shown in the illustration, which can be worn over any dress and afford perfect protection, if a special gown for the housework is not feasible. It is wise to have the pinafore belted, as otherwise, in stooping or climbing stairs, it can get in the way of one's feet and cause disaster. There is no need for the industrious housewife to have ugly or ill-groomed hands. If she can wear loose gloves when working some trouble will be saved, but in any case she has only to bathe the hands daily in warm water in which are a few drops of lemon juice and benzoin, then dip them up and down in cold water. It is a mistake to have the first water hot, and, of course, the greatest care should be taken in the choosing of soaps. After the hands are thoroughly washed and dried, a good cream, which shall both whiten and soften the hands, should be rubbed in, and then the hands dusted over with a good powder.

Curls Again.

A delicate alteration is to be observed in styles of hair dressing.

Flat buns and knots have entirely disappeared.

Curls are everywhere, at all times and seasons.

The quaint little curls hanging down at each side of the face in front of the ear have already made their appearance.

Although the curls worn on the head should be arranged as the most becoming, in general they should stand out well at the back, and if possible fall softly over the nape of the neck.

FOR SUNDAY SUPPER

HINTS ON PREPARING THIS INFORMAL MEAL.

One Hot Dish and the Rest Cold So It May Be Served at Any Time and Guests Help Themselves.

Informal suppers on Sunday evenings are the entertainments provided by one country hostess for her friends, and so successful have these affairs become that never is she without several visitors, and, as the meal is of a kind that can be served at any hour, guests have no feeling of being too late.

The hostess has but one servant, and allows her to go out every Sunday. It is easier to do without any service than to have that which is bad, the employer sensibly maintains, and declares that it would be demoralizing to work at other times, did she allow too much latitude to the maid in the dining room on Sundays. So, after the formal midday dinner is over and the dishes washed, the maid lays the supper table and then departs.

Supper is either cold or there is but one hot dish, this being made in the chafing dish, and chosen with a view to not spoiling by standing in the hot water jacket. Curried eggs, creamed chicken or salmon, or something similar, is usually prepared, and incidentally, should any be left over, it is excellent for luncheon next day.

Besides this hot food there is always a vegetable salad and mayonnaise, selecting either cucumber or tomato. There is bread and butter and food tea or coffee. The dessert is either berries, other fruit, or a kind that will keep for many hours without looking left over.

All these are on the table at once. There is no tablecloth, but a centerpiece, a dish of flowers, and candles. Plates are not placed at regular intervals, but left in a pile, one at either end of the table. Knives are also together, and so are forks, two-sets being at either side of the table to save unnecessary reaching. The jug of iced tea and glasses for it are on a side table, and the dessert may be kept there also.

The usual time for going into the dining room is 7 o'clock, but as the supper cannot be harmed by standing, and there is no maid to be delayed, the hostess goes when she feels like it, and from then on to 8:30 friends drop in. Each person helps himself as at any buffet supper, and there is never an evening when all is not gayety and fun. Such entertaining is no tax on the hostess, and she sees her friends far more often than she would under other circumstances. Since automobilism has become more general, her home is more or less of a meeting place and Sunday night suppers have become an institution in the household.

Green Tomato Pie Mixture.

Four quarts green tomatoes chopped fine, drain, cover with cold water, simmer 30 minutes and drain again. Add two pounds brown sugar, one pound raisins, half pound citron chopped fine, one tablespoon salt, half cup vinegar, half cup butter. Cook this mixture until it thickens. When cold add one tablespoon cloves, cinnamon and nutmeg. Put in jars cold and seal. This is a good substitute for mince meat and it will keep all winter.

Oyster Cocktail.

Eight small raw oysters, one tablespoon tomato catsup, half tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice, two drops table sauce, one teaspoon celery, finely chopped, half teaspoon table sauce. Mix ingredients, chill thoroughly and serve in cocktail glasses, or cases made from green peppers placed on bed of crushed ice.

THE LEMUR A CHARMING PET

Ehs in His "Naturalist on the Prowl" Describes Little Animal—Servants Afraid of Him.

Pets are of all sorts. One of the most amusing and attractive is described by Ehs in his "Naturalist on the Prowl." This little animal was a lemur, and besides many gentle and caressing ways, it seemed as if it possessed a certain sense of humor. Says Ehs:

"I used to take its soft hand and examine its pretty nails. Each hand had one long, sharp claw. Such a curious arrangement puzzled me, until one day a flea showed me the use of that claw. It bit the lemur under the ribs. I expect the little beast had reason to be thankful that nature had spared one toe when it promoted it to the order of four-handed animals.

There never was a more charming pet. He took life so gayly, and the antics were so original. When my man let him out of his cage in the morning, he would scamper straight to my bedroom, look round with large eyes brimming over with mild curiosity, and, lightly as a rubber ball, spring to my dressing table, where he would examine everything. Then he would bound across the bed and land on my shoulders, handle my ears gently, wondering what was in the hole, and thrusting in his long tongue to find out.

That was beyond human endurance, and I would roll the little fellow into a ball, wind his long, fully tail about him, and fling him into the bed. He would be unwound in a moment, and would skip away to explore some more.

His hind legs being longer than his fore, he walked slowly, with his head down; but when in a hurry he would stand up and bound along like a kangaroo, tail in the air, arms extended, fingers spread, looking like nothing one ever saw.

The servants regarded him as uncanny, and fled at his approach. He would give chase, and there never was finer sport than to see the fat butler in full flight up the long stairway, with the gleeful little demon after him, three steps at a bound.—Youth's Companion.

Not Seeking Trouble.

"I should think it would be the bugbear of your life trying to get up new brand-new jokes," said the sympathetic caller.

"That," said the humorist, cheerfully, "is the least of our troubles."
